BYLAWS

Article I: Membership

Outside of elected positions mentioned in article V of the constitution, there is only base level membership. This membership will be of no cost.

Members must be a part of the student body, faculty, or staff at Furman University.

When question is raised regarding the actions of a Furman University Car Club member, the senate will vote to determine the future of their membership. If the majority of the senate votes against the continuation of the person in question's membership, they will be revoked of their membership to the Furman University Car Club.

Article II: Selection of Officers

Officers will be selected during the election periods mentioned in article V of the constitution. All members of Furman University Car Club may vote. Candidates may not vote in elections they are participating in. The candidate(s) with the majority of votes will hold their elected position until their resignation or the next election. There is no term limit for any elected officials.

Duties of the President:

- Run meetings
- Attend all meetings when possible
- Create and present content in meetings
- Reflect the inclusive values in and outside of Furman University Car Club
- Manage social media for the Furman University Car Club
- Address concerns related to the Furman University Car Club and its Members and determine if action by the senate is necessary
- Update Constitution when necessary

Duties of the Vice President:

- Fulfill presidential duties when president is unable to
- Attend all meetings when possible
- Record attendance of members

Duties of Event Coordinator:

- Plan on campus events
- Plan off campus events
- Communicate with Treasurer for events that need financing
- Inform Furman University in advance of events when required
- Communicate with Furman University when planning events

Duties of Treasurer:

- Communicate with Furman University and the Event Coordinator when events require financing
- Communicate with Furman University when finance is required

- Record and monitor the spending of Furman University Car Club
- Determine when spending is necessary for Furman University Car Club

Duties of Senate:

- Determine when amendments need to be made to the Furman University Car Club constitution
- Determine when membership of Furman University Car Club should be revoked from members, and do so without bias formed by personal connections.
- Appoint a new advisor when the previous advisor resigns or is no longer fulfilling their duties
- Determine when an advisor should be revoked of their position with a majority senate vote

When the vacancy of a position occurs outside of an election period, the president will appoint a new member to fill the position until the next election period. If the vacancy is the presidential position, the vice president will take their position and appoint a new vice president until the next election period. If the new vice president was previously holding an elected position, the new president will appoint a member who does not currently hold an elected position to fill it until the next election period.

Article III: Selection of Advisor

A new advisor is selected by the senate when the previous advisor resigns, or is voted out of the club by the senate. The senate may determine an advisor is no longer adequate when the advisor does not promote the values of the Furman University Car Club or fails to communicate with the Furman University Car Club for a period of time which they deem questionable.

Article IV: Committees

Committees will not be part of Furman University Car Club during the 2023 Spring semester. Committees may be formed during later semesters when the club has established itself. Any member of Furman University Car Club can propose a committee. The first requirement in the creation of a committee is approval from the president. The senate then votes to determine if the committee should be formed. If the majority of senate votes in favor of the committee, the member who proposed it will automatically become the head chairperson of their proposed committee. The senate may then appoint other members to the committee. After the initial committee is appointed, elections will be held for the positions within the committee during the last week of August. The member holding the majority of votes from the members of Furman University Car Club will then fill the position. Officers who are not currently part of a committee may run for a position within the committee. Member's running for reelection may not vote in the election for their position. Committees that could potentially be formed in the Fall 2024 semester are Social Media, Internal Affairs, and Meeting Content committees.

Article V: Rules of Order

Meetings will be casual with no dress code unless. When consulting with potential sponsors business casual attire will be required (button shirt, tie, dress pants).

There will be an anonymous message board where concerns and requests can be filed. The president will look at these concerns and talk to the person in question. If the president feels the person may have done something worthy of revoking their membership, the case will be reviewed by the senate. The senate will then vote on if the person in question should be revoked of their membership.

Article VI: Amendments

The bylaws can be amended by a majority vote from the senate. These votes will take place anytime five or more Furman University Car Club members are concerned with a current bylaw.
