

Furman University Dungeons & Dragons Club

2023-24 Constitution

Article I: Organization Name

The name of this organization shall be Furman University Dungeons & Dragons Club (FUDND).

Article II: Purpose Statement

Furman University Dungeons & Dragons Club shall serve the purpose of bringing together a community of students who are interested in Dungeons & Dragons a table-top role-playing game. This serves as a form of entertainment, unique medium of creative storytelling, and a means of promoting friendships. In playing this game, we will be bringing the Furman community together. The club will provide a relaxed social environment for members to discuss the game, play, and promote the sharing of new ideas and perspectives.

Article III: Member and Eligibility Criteria

Section A: Membership

Membership is open to any and all enrolled Furman students that wish to participate in the Furman Dungeon & Dragons Club.

Section B: Membership Removal

Subsection 1: Removal due to Student Code of Conduct Violation

This organization and its members agree to adhere to the Furman University Student Code of Conduct – any member found violating this may be removed from the organization. Upon at least three total warnings, the member in question may have their membership revoked by a two-thirds vote of the Executive Board. A member removed in such a fashion will fall into bad standing with the organization. Any member in bad standing may appeal to the general membership to have their membership reinstated and be brought back into good standing the following semester. They may only be reinstated through a meeting with the executive board and a two-thirds approval from the general membership.

Subsection 2: Removal due to Inactivity

This organization has the right to remove members from the club if they have been inactive for a year or more. Inactivity is defined as attending fewer than four meetings or events held by the organization within the span of a semester. If a student is removed by these means, this does not place the student in question into bad standing nor bans them from the club permanently. The student may rejoin at any time, but can not participate in elections until the next academic year or election cycle.

Article IV: Voting

Section A: How decision will be reached

A decision will be reached when a candidate has received a majority vote from the organization's eligible members.

Section B: Eligibility for voting

Each present member in good standing and who has attended at least four meetings or events held by the Furman Dungeons and Dragons Club is allowed to vote. See bylaw Article I Section B for definitions on good and bad standing.

Article V: Officers

Section A: Positions of Executive Board

Furman University Dungeons & Dragons Club shall have a President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Quartermaster. These officers constitute the Executive Board.

Section B: Dungeon Masters

A Dungeon Master is a member of the organization, who has been appointed by the president, that is the leader of any RPG run during club meetings or events.

Section C: Term Length

The term of office shall be one academic year in addition to the prior summer break.

Section D: Election of Officers and Proceedings

Subsection 1: Election Proceedings

Election of officers shall be held annually. At least two weeks notice must be given before the election meeting. Candidates will be given time on the day of the election to present and orate their case, qualifications, etc., for the position they are running for before voting. Elections will begin with the position of President followed by the position of Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, and Quartermaster in that order. Elections will be administered by an unbiased third party. Only student members in good standing and who have attended four meetings and/or events by the Furman Dungeon & Dragons Club are eligible to participate in voting. The person who receives majority vote in each position will be declared the winner.

Subsection 2: Eligibility of Officer Positions

Any eligible member of the Furman Dungeons & Dragons Club may run for the positions of Vice President, Secretary, or Quartermaster. Individuals who plan to run for President or Treasurer must also have spent a minimum of one full academic year on the executive board preceding the time of elections. If no one meets these criteria, the eligibility then opens up to any member who has spent a minimum of one academic year within the club up to the time of elections and is an eligible member. Any individual may run for up to two positions. Any eligible member intending to run must announce to the executive board their intentions at least a week beforehand. Eligible members may only hold one active position within the executive board at any given time.

Section E: Vacancies

Any vacancy in an office shall be filled by appointment by the president pending ratification at the next meeting of the executive board. A vacancy is formed by an executive member who has chosen or made to step down. An executive member can be made to step down by a two-thirds vote of the executive board, excluding the member in question.

Section F: Duties of the President

The duties of the President are as follows:

1. The President is the chief executive officer.
2. The President is a voting member of the organization.
3. The President will appoint all Dungeon Masters.
4. The President will preside over meetings. If they are not present, the vice president will fulfill this role, followed by the Secretary, the Treasurer and then finally the Quartermaster.
5. The President will supervise the Treasurer with the approval of the executive board. This includes the budget. Approval will be given by majority vote of the executive board. The President will approve all purchases made by the treasurer.
6. The President will arrange the organization's schedule.
7. Vacancies in offices shall be filled by the President with the approval of the executive board.

Section G: Duties of the Vice President

The duties of the Vice President are as follows:

1. The Vice President will assume the duties of the president should the office become vacant, or in the president's absence.
2. The Vice President will keep and have available copies of the constitution and bylaws.
3. The Vice President will assist the Secretary managing the email lists and social media related to the club.
4. The Vice President will work to manage interclub relations and outreach as well as organizing interclub and intraclub activities.
5. The Vice President will perform other duties as prescribed by the president.

Section H: Duties of the Secretary

The duties of the Secretary are as follows:

1. The Secretary will be responsible for keeping the minutes of all meetings of the executive board.
2. The Secretary will provide a copy of the minutes for all members and keep a master file.
3. The Secretary will maintain a complete and accurate roster and account of attendance in the form of an excel sheet.

4. The Secretary will announce all meetings of the club, whether they be regular meetings or events, and how to attend them
5. The Secretary will assist the Vice President in managing social media related to the club.
6. The Secretary will perform other duties as prescribed by the president.

Section I: Duties of the Treasurer

The duties of the Treasurer are as follows:

1. The Treasurer is in charge of using the budget to fund club activities and acquire supplies and equipment for the organization under the supervision of the president
2. The Treasurer will keep a current and accurate record of all financial transactions.
3. The Treasurer will request the budget annually from SGA.
4. The Treasurer will develop a semester report containing a list of all receipts and disbursements and distribute them among the membership upon request.
5. The Treasurer will be responsible for checking the accuracy of all bills and invoices and paying them correctly and in a timely manner.
6. The Treasurer will perform other duties as prescribed by the president.

Section J: Duties of the Quartermaster:

The duties of the Quartermaster are as follows:

1. The Quartermaster is responsible for storage and upkeep of all club supplies and equipment.
2. The Quartermaster will keep an accurate log of the location and condition of club supplies and all supplies loaned out to club members.
3. The Quartermaster will work with the Secretary to send out email reminders to club members of what club supplies are available for loaning and what are overdue for returns.
4. The Quartermaster will work with the Treasurer to determine supplies for purchasing.
5. The Quartermaster will perform other duties as prescribed by the president.

Section K: Duties of All Positions

The duties of all positions of the executive board are as follows:

1. All members of the executive board are expected to attend all meetings and events of the organization. If an executive board member is unable to attend, the person should inform the executive board within the span of at least one hour prior to the meeting or event.
2. Upon the completion of their current term, the members of the executive board are expected to assist the rising executive board in understanding and fulfilling their duties.

Article VI: The Advisor

Section A: Duties of the Advisor

The advisor shall serve as a resource by sharing knowledge and expertise as needed. The advisor will also assist in faculty outreach for the organization.

Section B: Requirements of Advisor Position

The advisor is a faculty or staff member of Furman University.

Article VII: Notice of Meetings

Section A: Scheduling of meetings and events

The times for regularly scheduled meetings shall be once a week on a consistent, dedicated time decided by the executive board at the beginning of each semester. The time for events will be coordinated by the executive board on a need-be basis.

Section B: Notice of meetings and events

At least one day's notice will be given for each regular meeting and event.

Section C: Emergency Meetings

Emergency meetings may be called with less than 24 hours' notice by the Executive Board.

Section D: Proceeding of Meetings

The meetings shall include attendance, assembly, order of business, and recorded minutes. Order of business may vary in structure between the running of brief tabletop sessions of Dungeons & Dragons and other Tabletop RPGs and general discussions where members may share thoughts, ideas, and testimonies about topics relevant to Dungeons & Dragons and the community. Meetings are open to all non-discriminating individuals. Robert's Rules shall be used for all voting circumstances (closing the meeting, bylaw changes, etc.) during meetings.

Furman University Dungeons & Dragons Club Bylaws

Article I: Membership

Section A: Active Membership

Active membership is open to all Furman students who meet the membership criteria, as stated in Article III of the constitution. Active members maintain the right to vote and participate in organization activities. To remain active, they must be in good standing and attend at least four meetings or events held by the organization each semester. See bylaw Article I Section B for definitions on good and bad standing.

Section B: Good Standing

A member will be considered in good standing with the organization by abiding by all rules in the bylaws and constitution, including Furman University Student Code of Conduct. Failure to meet these requirements will result in the member falling into bad standing with the organization.

Section C: Revoking Membership

Any member may have their membership revoked by a two-thirds vote of the executive board.

Article II: Selection of Officers

Section A: Elections

Election of officers shall be held annually. At least a two weeks notice will be given before the election meeting. Candidates will be given time on the day of the election to present and orate their case, qualifications, etc., for the position they are running for before voting. Elections will be administered by an unbiased third party. The person who receives majority vote will be elected. See Article V Section C subsections 1 through 3 of the FUDND constitution for further information on the process of elections and eligibility for positions.

Section B: Vacancies

Any vacancy in an office shall be filled by appointment by the president pending ratification at the next meeting of the executive board. A vacancy is formed by an executive member who has chosen or made to step down. An executive member can be made to step down by a two-thirds vote of the executive board, excluding the member in question.

Section C: Officer Removal

An officer may be removed from the executive board by a two-thirds majority vote of the executive board excluding the executive in question.

Article III: Selection of Advisor

Section A: Process for selection and removal of advisor

The advisor will be selected by majority vote of the executive board. The executive board will provide a list, of faculty or staff that have agreed to take up the advisor position, to the general membership. Upon at least one member providing reason for removal, an advisor may be removed by a two-thirds vote of the executive board.

Article IV: Amendments

Section A: Process in Adding, Changing or Removing Amendments

The bylaws can be amended at any time if proposed by a member of the organization, or a member of the executive board and agreed upon by a majority vote of the executive board. A member must present a proposed bylaw change to the executive board, which will be discussed at the next executive board meeting. The list of proposed changes should then be presented by the executive board to the general membership at the following club meeting. Copies should be made available at the meeting. The decision whether to make the proposed bylaw change or retain the laws will be voted upon at the meeting following the executive board's presentation. A majority vote is sufficient to retain or change the bylaws.

Article V: Outreach and Communication

At soonest opportunity, the officers should create or arrange for the creation and upkeep of an emailing list, group site, and group chat for use by the student organization's members.

Article VI: Meetings

Meetings will be conducted at least once each week at a consistent, dedicated time decided by the executive board at the beginning of each semester. One day's notice must be given for regularly scheduled meetings. Special, or emergency, meetings can be called under 24 hours notice by the executive board. Special meetings will be composed of announcements that address the reason for the meeting as well as recorded minutes.

Article VII: Minutes

Minutes will include the type of meeting (regular or special), date of meeting, general discussion topics, and all main motions. After each meeting, the minutes will be added to a master file that will be accessible to all members of the club. Amendments to the bylaws or constitution will be recorded in the minutes.

Article VIII. Loaning of Club Supplies and Equipment

Section A: Loaning Procedure

All members are eligible to request supplies held by the FUDND club for loaning. A master document will be maintained, cataloging the loaned item, date of loan, member in possession, condition of the item, and any additional notes if necessary. All loaned items must be returned within one month of the loan date and extended by displaying proof of the item's existence by temporarily returning the item. This extension is subject to the executive board's opinion on the condition of the item and the existence of other requests for the item. All items must be returned three weeks before LDOC. Any member possessing a loaned item for more than one month without extension is subject to overdue return policies.

Section B: Overdue Return Policies

Members in possession of a loaned item will receive an email one week before the end of the loan month and one day before it is due informing them of the return date. If the item is not returned by the end of the month, an email will be sent informing the member that they have two weeks to return the item before they lose their membership. Following this point, should the item not be returned, they will receive weekly emails reminding them to return the item.

Article IX. Discipline and Impeachment Defined

Section A: Acceptable Behavior

Members of the organization are expected to conduct themselves in a professional and respectful manner during meetings. This means to speak in turn and not interrupt others, appreciate creative and personal differences, and provide positive and constructive criticism when asked for advice.

Section B: Tiers of Discipline

There are three definable tiers of discipline:

- A. Grievance
- B. Warning
- C. Removal

See bylaw Article VIII Sections C, D, and E for definitions and procedures in handling each tier.

Section C: Grievance

A grievance is a complaint filed by one member about another member. After a grievance has been filed, it is up to the discretion of the executive board whether to administer a warning or if immediate removal may apply. Immediate removal is based on evidence gathered by the executive board from the relevant parties as well as general membership. All grievances must be filed to and mediated by the executive board until a resolution between members involved is found.

Section D: Warning

A warning is a written and verbal admonishment given to the recipient of a grievance. This will be delivered by the executive board in response to inflammatory conduct or behavior, such as harassment or discrimination. Following such actions, and through a two-thirds majority vote of the executive board, the member who received the warning may be barred from attending meetings and events held by the club until all allegations are investigated. Should the grievance in question fall under the category of sexual harassment, or violation of Furman's Title IX regulations, the executive board reserves the right to report such actions to the correct authorities and immediately remove membership until a verdict is reached. Members who garner up to three total warnings are subject to the proceedings of membership removal. See Article III Section C of the FUDND Constitution for member removal procedures.

Section E: Removal

A removal is defined as either an executive board officer or member of the general assembly with three warnings or found guilty of sexual harassment, or violation of Furman's Title IX regulations. See Section B of Article III in the FUDND Constitution and bylaw Article II Section C for member or officer removal procedures.
