

Furman University Clarinet Society Constitution

Article I. Furman University Clarinet Society

The formal name of the organization shall be the Furman University Clarinet Society.

Article II. Purpose

The purpose of the Furman Clarinet Society is to provide opportunities for Furman students to both perform and learn about playing the clarinet and encourage the Furman community's interest in instrumental music, specifically with pieces written for the clarinet. With a community of student-musicians all playing together, each will learn from their fellow students and grow into more articulate musicians. Students will have a chance to ask questions about clarinet repertoire with fellow students, perform for their peers, and become more connected with the music community in the Greenville area. The Furman University Clarinet Society members will perform once per semester and may have other opportunities to perform and attend concerts and masterclasses both on and off campus for a variety of events, including those that serve Furman, the Upstate community, and the music community at large.

Article III. Membership

Membership in the Furman University Clarinet Society is open to any Furman students that pays the student activities fee. In keeping with Furman's discrimination policy, membership will be open to all students. Our organization will not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, handicap, age, sexual orientation, political affiliation, or religious affiliation.

Article IV. Affiliations

Furman's Clarinet Society will be affiliated with the music department, and the formal advisor of the program is Dr. Anastasia Christofakis, the clarinet professor here at Furman.

Article VII. Conflict and Discipline in the Organization

- A. If conflict in the organization arises, it is first and foremost the task of the president to help solve this conflict between members. They will be the first person that organization members should go to regarding conflict. The president will call for a meeting that includes themselves and members involved in the conflict, where members are given a moderated space to talk about the issue at hand. This space will be confidential, unless someone is causing harm to themselves or others. If that is the case, it shall be the task of the formal advisor to resolve the conflict.

- B. Organizations may not address a member's violations of university policy via internal standards boards or other accountability mechanisms without prior approval of the Dean of Students Office. Conduct expectations unique to membership in the organization and that do not overlap or otherwise interfere with university authority may be addressed with the written approval of the AVP/Dean of Students or designee. Groups affiliated with national organizations that have established guidance and procedures over disciplinary matters, may follow the directive of those national organizations with regard to member conduct but must do so with written approval of the university.

Article VIII. Finances and Materials

A budget form will be requested to fund masterclass, clarinet society events, and all auxiliary instruments (i.e. – bass clarinet, contra clarinets, Eb clarinet, A clarinet, etc.). Students are expected to provide other materials.

Article IX. Commitment to Equity and Inclusion in Music

In support of Furman University's character and values statement, diversity vision, and diversity statement, the Music Department commits to diversity, equity, and inclusion as core tenets of musical and academic excellence. We insist on equitable and inclusive practices that allow our entire faculty, staff, and student body to bring their whole selves to our campus, and we commit to the work required to ensure a culture where every person feels welcome, wanted, and valued. We condemn systemic racism, institutionalized bias, and their presence on our campus, in our community, and in our curriculum. We therefore commit to anti-racist practices that foster an environment where all people are supported and represented.

Article X. Nondiscrimination Policy and Sexual Harassment

Furman University is committed to providing programs, activities and an educational and work environment free from unlawful Discrimination and Discriminatory Harassment. In furtherance of this commitment, Furman encourages all members of the community to report any Discrimination or Discriminatory Harassment promptly, so it can be addressed. The University's Non-Harassment and Non-Discrimination website and policy sets forth available resources, describes prohibited conduct, and establishes procedures for responding to complaints of Discrimination, Harassment and Retaliation.

The University's Sexual Misconduct Policy identifies prohibited Sexual Misconduct, establishes grievance procedures for addressing Sexual Misconduct, describes supportive measures and sets forth available resources. For information about Title IX, measures Furman takes to prevent Sexual Misconduct, reporting options, and supportive measures and resources visit Furman's Title IX Statement.
