Student Staff Member Academic Standards

One of the most important expectations of the student staff member role is that they serve as positive role models in all areas of life for the students living on their halls and in their buildings. This includes modeling academic excellence. Minimum cumulative and semester GPA requirements:

Senior Student Staff: 2.75

FRAD: 2.70

RA: 2.50

It is expected that student staff members will make satisfactory academic progress. All student staff members' grades will be checked at the end of each semester. Staff members falling below the academic standards are required to participate in additional academic support and may be placed on probation with specific requirements.

Time Away

The Department of Housing and Residence Life expects you to be visible and available in your community. Plan to request no more than three days away per month. No more than 50% of each area's staff may be away from campus on any given day or night. There will be times when 100% of staff are expected to be present, including, but not limited to; training, staff meetings, opening and closing of campus housing.

Time away will be granted on a first come, first serve basis at the discretion of the Area Supervisor. The Area Supervisor reserves the right to deny time away if they deem it necessary.

Student staff must submit a Time Away Request online at least five (5) days prior to the desired dates.

Student Staff Member Performance Guidelines

This procedure was developed to promote consistency and fairness, and to avoid inequitable and arbitrary results in the event that it becomes necessary to discipline a student staff member. The Department of Housing and Residence Life supports a progressive discipline system. For all levels of student staff, normal disciplinary sanctions range from a verbal warning to terminations. Discipline at any level must be based on sound, well-documented reasons.

1. The supervisors and the student staff member will regularly meet to discuss the student staff member's performance throughout the year.
2. All incidents related to poor job performance must be followed up with immediate feedback, such as a meeting with the student staff member within 48 hours of the infraction. Performance issues and corresponding follow-up will be documented and retained in the student staff members file.
3. Plans to assist a student staff member not meeting expectations will be devised and implemented throughout the semester to aid that student staff member in improving their performance.
4. If the student staff member's performance or actions are not in keeping with the expectations of the Department of Housing and Residence Life, sanctions ranging from warnings, probation and termination can ensue. Once the discipline process is initiated, all sanctions will be documented and kept in the student staff member's personnel file.

Verbal Warning

Verbal warnings are used to give feedback to a student staff member when they are not performing as expected. The supervisor documents the conversation in the student staff member's file. A letter is not sent to the student staff member as that would constitute a written warning. The Associate Director of Residence Life is informed.

Written Warning

Written warnings are used when a student staff member continues to perform below par after the supervisor has spoken to the student staff member about their performance.

The supervisor will build the case to justify the action (gathering formal and informal documentation, performance evaluations, policies and any other information supporting the necessity for this action). After this documentation is collected, the AD/AC will consult with the Associate Director of Residence Life. A letter will be issued by the supervisor notifying the student staff member of the decision made, as well as, recommendations for improvement. A specific date will be set for the supervisor and student staff member to meet to assess progress made toward correcting the deficiency. Copies of the notice will be sent to the Associate Director of Residence Life.

Probation

Probation is used when the student staff member has been performing to expectations overall, but has demonstrated a weakness in a specific area that needs immediate correction. The AD/AC will build the case to justify the action (gathering formal and informal documentation, performance evaluations, policies and any other information supporting the necessity for this action). After the documentation is collected, the AD/AC will consult with the Associate Director of Residence Life. The AD/AC will meet with the student staff member and explain how their performance has fallen short of expectations.

The AD/AC will prepare the “conditions of probation” before the meeting with the student staff member. The conditions include:

- The length of the probationary period
- Behavioral objectives that must be met during the probation period. Behavioral objectives must be in the form of a contract which outlines all behavior expected of the student staff member during the probationary period.

A letter will be issued by the AD/AC outlining all the terms of probation. A specific date will be set for the AD/AC and student staff member to meet to assess progress made toward correcting the deficiency. Copies of the notice will be sent to the Associate Director of Residence Life.

Termination

Termination of a student staff member is a serious matter and will only be used after consulting with the Associate Director of Residence Life. Under normal circumstances, the Associate Director of Residence Life may recommend that the student staff member be given the opportunity to resign.

The AD/AC will build the case to justify the action (gathering formal and informal documentation, performance evaluations, policies and any other information supporting the necessity for this action). After this documentation is collected, the AD/AC will consult the Associate Director of Residence Life. A letter will be issued by the AD/AC notifying the student staff member that they are immediately suspended without pay and their employment is currently under review for termination.

The student staff member will be requested to schedule a meeting within one week of notification. Failure to schedule and/or attend a meeting will cause the decision to become permanent and void all appeal rights. The meeting held between the AD/AC and the student staff member is when the news of the decision of termination will be delivered. All documentation (including termination letter) will be forwarded to the Associate Director. As a general rule, terminated staff will not be permitted to stay within the hall in which they worked.

Appeals

The student staff member can file a written appeal to the Associate Director of Residence Life within 72 hours of formal (written) notification regarding termination. If the student staff member appeals, they will remain suspended without pay, pending a final resolution. As such, during the appeal process, the student staff member will not perform any of the functions or duties related to their position. Grounds to appeal are severity of sanctions or improper procedures were followed. All decisions by the Associate Director of Residence Life are final and may not be appealed. When final resolution has been reached, all documentation will be sent to the Associate Director for Residence Life to be placed in the student staff member’s file.

On Duty and Incident Response

Purpose

RAs and S3 serve on duty and on call for the residential community to be first responders to: health and safety concerns, roommate conflicts, noise issues, lockouts, resident concerns, policy violations, and facility issues.

All student staff (including FRADs) are still responsible for addressing these same situations even if you are not on duty. If you are not able to address the situation, you MUST call the RA On Duty so it can be handled.

On Duty	On Call
RA carries the duty phone and must remain in their residential community and be able to respond to any issues.	RA carries the duty phone and must remain on campus and be able to respond to their community within 5 minutes

Hours

Monday-Friday 5:00pm-8:00pm (on call) and 8:00pm-8:30am (on duty)

Saturday/Sunday 8:00am-8:00pm (on call) and 8:00pm-8:00am (on duty)

On Duty Shifts

- RAs in each area serve in a 24/7 duty rotation.
- RAs will work both weeknight and weekend shifts throughout each semester.
- Expectations for rounds while on duty will be shared by the area supervisor.
- When there are two RAs on duty together, the RA 2 who is not holding the phone must respond to all calls to their personal cell phone. They must make sure the phone is on and loud enough that they will wake up to it at night. If either RA receives a call about an incident, they should immediately call the other RA for backup and address the situation together. Lockouts and minor calls can be handled individually.

Expectations

- Pick up the phone at the office before 5:00pm
- Call the AAC On Call from the duty phone by 5:15pm to check-in.
- If you are RA 2, call in to the RA 1 so they are aware that you're available and ready to begin your shift.
- Conduct rounds at 9:00pm and 11:00pm Sunday – Thursday and 9:00pm, 11:00pm, and 1:00am on Friday and Saturday.
- Submit on-duty log.
- Answer the phone every time it rings!
- Follow all incident response protocols.
- Submit any additional calls received after log was submitted by 8:30am.
- Return phone and binder to area office at 8:30am. Do not leave phone unattended in the office – if the RA working the next shift is late, get in touch with them and pass the phone directly to them.

See the Crisis Protocol Manual for all incident response protocols.

Writing an Incident Report

Purpose

An incident report (IR) is truly just a report that documents a situation. They are used to make campus professionals aware of incidents and to share information about situations that impact students, facilities, and the community.

They are also used to hold people accountable to community standards or the rules we all agree to abide by when enrolling, working, or visiting at Furman. An incident report must paint an accurate, descriptive, and thorough picture of what took place for those who were not present.

When to Submit an IR

- Policy Violation: any situation involving a violation of the student conduct code, housing policies, or laws
- Serious Maintenance: any situation that is a serious maintenance issue i.e. fire, flood, requires resident relocation
- Damaged Property: any situation in which personal or university property is damaged
- Serious Roommate Conflict: any situation where professional staff had to get involved in a roommate conflict outside of business hours
- Emergency Attention: any situation in which a resident or guest requires emergency attention from police or EMS
- When in Doubt!

Information to Collect

TIME AND REASON FOR APPROACH

Write down what time you became aware of and involved in the situation. Write down why you came across the situation. For example: on rounds, received a call, walking to my room.

WHO IS PRESENT?

Write down who is present at the situation including residents, guests, other student staff members, and first responders. You need first name, last name, Furman ID #, and housing assignment.

DETAILED NOTES

Write down details of what you observe during the situation Answer the five W's: who, what, when, where and why. Include quotes (still include inappropriate language, even if hurtful).

Who Who is present? Who lives there? Who is a student? Guest? Who is cooperating? Who is being difficult? Who did you call (i.e. Level One, FUPD, etc.)?	What What brought you to the incident? What do you see? What do you hear? What do you smell? What are people involved telling you? What behaviors do you observe?	When When did you arrive? When did you call Level One, FUPD, etc.? When did Level One, FUPD, etc. arrive? When did the students get there? When did you leave? When did Level One, FUPD, etc. leave?
Where Where is the situation specifically? Where is everyone in the location? Where were they before? Where did they go?		Why Why did you approach the situation? Why did the resident engage in the behavior (if they tell you)? Why did you decide to call Level One, FUPD, etc.

Inform the students being documented of the following:

- A hearing officer will be contacting them in writing (formal email letter) about a meeting in about a week. The meeting is an opportunity for the student and the hearing officer to discuss the facts of the incident.
- If the student does not attend the meeting or does not make an attempt to reschedule an inconvenient meeting time, the student could face sanctions for Failure to Comply or a decision will be made in their absence.

Narrative

After the incident, sit down with other student staff member(s) and write the narrative description of the incident in a Word Document.

BEGINNING: The narrative should start with your first awareness of the situation.

For example: Resident Assistant (RA) Lillian Essaf was conducting a round on the 3rd floor of Judson Hall when she noticed Residents Alex Morgan, Kelley O'Hara, and Robin Heath.

MIDDLE: The bulk of the narrative follows the situation chronologically. It should outline your observations in order.

END: The narrative should end with a statement about how and when the incident concluded.

For example: Level One Kayla Harvey informed the Residents of the conduct process and everyone dispersed.

People involved should be identified by their relationship to Furman and their name. After the first introduction, the first name can be removed (ex. Student Smith), as long as there are not persons with the same last name.

For example: Student John Smith the first time and then Student Smith

Always	Never Include
Write in third person Avoid pronouns Introduce your acronyms Check spelling and grammar Refer to people by title and full name Be objective Be specific and detailed Include quotes if possible Be accurate	Pronouns Opinions or assumptions "Finger pointing" Spelling and grammar errors First names without last names Acronyms without introduction Incorrect information Past history or incidents with students involved

Good Incident Report

On June 3, 2017, at around 12:30pm Resident Assistant (RA) Edward Anderson was inspecting vacant apartments in North Village (NV) Building B to ensure the spaces were ready for residents to move into the following day. RA Anderson knocked on the exterior apartment door of NV B 208 and announced "Housing and Residence Life". After knocking and announcing himself again, RA Anderson proceeded to announce that he was keying into the space.

When RA Anderson keyed into the apartment, Resident Robert Greene was standing in the doorway of bedroom 2 and a light tan dog of medium size came out of the bedroom and ran up to RA Anderson. RA Anderson asked Resident Greene if the dog was approved and if he could see the approval email. Resident Greene said it was approved, but did not have the email available. RA Anderson then returned to the Housing office and told supervisor, Associate Director (AD) Lillian Essaf about the dog. AD Essaf quickly checked the roster to see who was currently living in the space and if there was a dog approved to be in that apartment. Resident Greene was the only resident currently living in the space and there was not a dog approved for the resident.

Assistant Area Coordinator (AAC) Katherine Henry then went back to the NV B 208 apartment with RA Anderson at approximately 1:25pm. AAC Henry knocked on the door twice. After no response, AAC Henry announced “Keying in” and proceeded to key into apartment NV B 208. Upon opening the door, AAC Henry saw Resident Greene and a light tan dog of medium size was running around the apartment. RA Anderson explained to Resident Greene that they had checked to see if the dog was permitted and returned because it was not approved. AAC Henry then asked Resident Greene for his Furman ID. Resident Greene went back to the bedroom to try to find it, but was only able to find his driver’s license, which he provided to AAC Henry.

After taking down Resident Greene’s information and getting Resident Greene’s student ID number, AAC Henry then asked Resident Greene if the dog belonged to him. Resident Greene explained that the dog belonged to his teammate, Student Brad O’Grady, who had an emergency and had to leave campus for the weekend. Resident Greene informed the RAs that Student O’Grady would be back the following day to get the dog. AAC Henry let Resident Greene know that the dog needed to be removed and could not stay in the apartment.

RA Anderson asked Resident Greene about options for taking the dog to someone else who could watch it. Resident Greene was able to get in contact with his cousin to make arrangements to rehome the dog. AAC Henry then explained to Resident Greene that the information on the situation would be reported and that a staff member from Housing and Residence Life would be back later to confirm that the dog had been relocated. AAC Henry and RA Anderson left the scene. It should be noted that Resident Greene was cooperative throughout the entire incident. End of Report.

Submitting the Report

Once the narrative is complete in the Word document, open the Incident Report form online. You can find the link to the form in syncDIN. The report form will time out. This is why you write your narrative in a Word document first.

1. Type in your contact information.
2. Choose nature of the report. Options are Housing Violation or Student Conduct Code violation.
3. Put in specific date, time, and location of incident.

It is important to choose the correct option for the “Nature of this report” field. Housing Policy Violation reports are sent to housing professionals only. Student Conduct Code Violations are sent to the Dean of Students for the Student Conduct Board. If it is a mix, always choose Student Conduct Code Violation.

Meeting Resident Needs

Every resident requires certain things for a healthy life that can be described by Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs. Housing and Residence Life easily provides for residents' most basic physiological needs through our facilities. It is our job to help residents meet the next two levels of needs: safety and belongingness. Here are some strategies we can use to help our residents feel secure and that they belong.

- Understand the functions of the various centers and resources on campus and refer residents to them as needed.
- Recommend and create opportunities for stress relief for students who have many demands on their limited time. A break from responsibilities can make a world of difference.
- Provide programming for residents to engage with others in their community, develop new relationships, and feel a sense of connectedness and belonging.
- Be present in the community and physically check the spaces for possible threats to the safety of the residents, such as propped doors and fire hazards.

Programming & Resource Room

A program is any planned purposeful interaction between building staff and residents that encourages and engages residents within the floor and building communities. Programs are one of the tools you can use to build a community. The key to a successful program is getting to know your residents so that you can engage them in the planning of the programs, as well as, select topics that are of interest to them.

The program type is your involvement in the creation of the program. Is it planned or does it happen by opportunity?

- Planned programs are prepared in advance. This type of program you will brainstorm an idea, pick a date and time, propose it to your supervisor(s), make arrangements, and advertise it to your residents.
- Spontaneous programs are spur of the moment and happen as the natural byproduct of a thriving community. They happen when an opportunity presents itself and residents gather and engage together.

The mode is how the program is delivered to residents. Do residents attend an event or do they interact with on their own time?

- Active programs require the residents to interact with others during an activity at a set time and place. This can be in-person or virtually.
- Passive programs are when residents have flexibility to participate when they choose; it can take the form of a bulletin board, newsletter, blog, door tag, etc. The difference between a passive program and decorations is that a passive program exposes residents to a new idea, conveys a developmental message and/or encourages interaction with others or their surroundings.

The focus is the goal of the program. Is it designed to connect residents together or educate them about something?

- Social programs create opportunities for you to get to know residents and/or for residents to develop new relationships or strengthen bonds with others. Some programs may have this as the sole intent. Truly successful programs are able to incorporate social aspects into developmental programs (win-win).
- Developmental programs introduce residents to topics and resources that will provide them the tools to be healthy, productive members of a community. Topics are determined by assessing the needs of your residents. Remember just because there is a developmental intent, does not mean it cannot be fun (social).

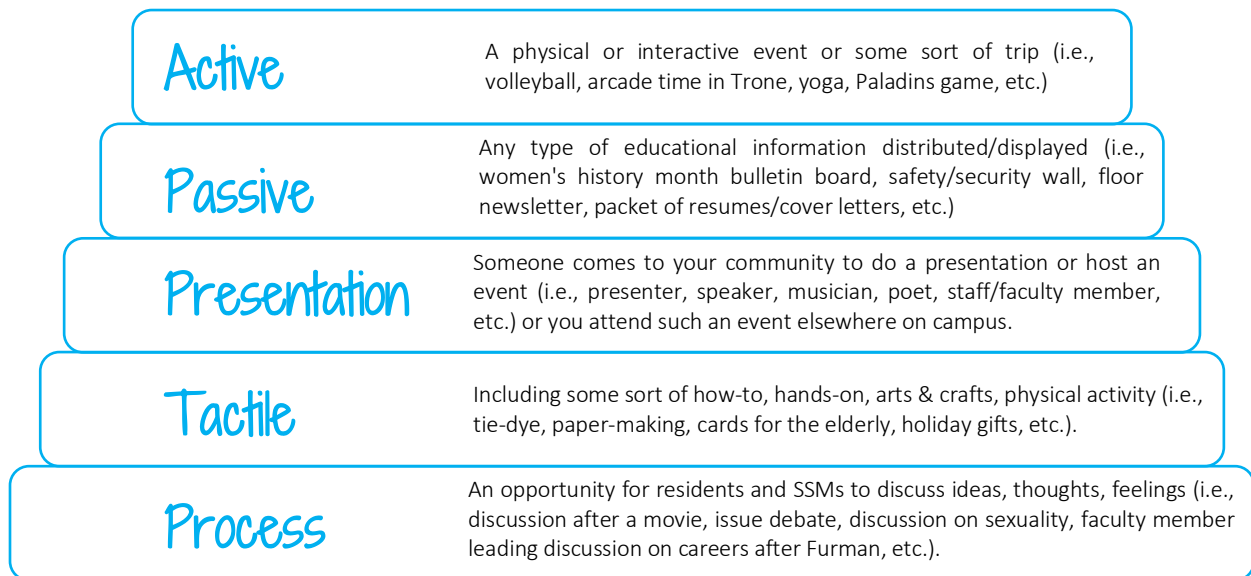

Program Paperwork

- A program proposal must be submitted prior to your program unless otherwise noted. Please see your supervisor for program proposal deadlines. You must have a program proposal approved to use program funds.
- If you need to make a purchase, coordinate with your professional staff supervisor to borrow their credit card once you have received approval. Turn the credit card back into them immediately after use with the receipt.

- Submit an evaluation of your program immediately following your program. It is due within 24 hours. An evaluation must be submitted in order to receive credit for meeting program requirements.

Layers of Programming

Every program should have multiple layers. A “layer” is an activity or element. The more layers, the more engagement in the program! There are 5 layer categories.

A Multi-Layer Event Example

Jane wants to watch something on Netflix with her residents--maybe Love Actually. Her trusty supervisor suggests showing Prom, a musical movie about a high school student who is LGBT forbidden to attend Prom, as a developmental program. Together they work on adding the following layers to the event:

Active: Watching the movie with a group of residents is a mildly active event.

Passive: Jane puts up a poster with information about LGBT inclusion/rights/education or does a bulletin board in advance of the program.

Presentation: Jane invites a Safe Zone facilitator to come lead a session for the floor that week.

Tactile: Residents (as allies) write letters to government officials urging them to protect LGBT+ rights.

Process: After the movie, Jane leads a discussion about the movie to talk about the story, how people feel, implications for the community, etc.

Program Considerations

Planning

Determine what your goals are for your program. Make sure you check what your program requirements are for the month!

How do I come up with ideas?

- Go online! There are many resources out there—Reslife.net, Pinterest, Resources for Resident Assistants, etc.
- Ask other staff members what they have done in the past. Talk to your AAC or FPA!
- Ask your residents what they are interested in doing.

Floor Only

If you are focusing on programming for only your floor, reach out and see what your floor wants to do! This can easily be done through an interest survey (paper or online). Ask about their interests, best day/time to attend and best location!

Teaming Up

If you are going to team up with another SSM or an outside office, figure out the best location (on your hall, Trone, an academic building, etc.). Reach out to both the office and your floor to figure out the best time/day to plan for. Start this process at least 3-4 weeks ahead so everyone has enough time to plan!

Budgeting

Every SSM has a budget. Look at how much you have. Figure out how much is a smart amount to spend and do the math before you submit your proposal.

How do I begin the program on the day?

1. Figure out who will do introductions if there is a speaker.
2. As people enter, before the program starts, welcome them.
3. Thank the large group of attending and let them know what will be happening at the event.
4. Start with an easy icebreaker!
5. As the program is happening, walk around the room and thank people for attending.
6. Make introductions! If people do not know one another but have something in common, introduce them!

Purchasing

Every staff member has money in a budget to use for programming. Please do not use any of your own money for your hall. The preferred method for purchasing items for programming is using the departmental credit cards.

Credit Cards

You can check out a credit card from your area supervisor during business hours 8:30AM-5:00PM, Monday through Friday. You must coordinate with your supervisor in advance, as there is only one card per area and another SSM may also need to borrow it.

- You must have prior approval on your program proposal and/or direct permission from your supervisor to use the credit card.
- Credit cards must be returned within immediately after use.
- Itemized receipts must be submitted to your area supervisor when the credit card is returned.
- You cannot make personal purchases on the university credit card.
- Tips for delivery may not exceed 10%. Tips must be included on the copy of the receipt that you submit to your supervisor.

Programming Funds

In order to receive funding, programs must be approved by your supervisor in advance of the date of your program. Programming funds may not be used to pay hall fines or for any personal purchases. You can check your programming fund balance with your area supervisor.

Prohibited Purchases

- Alcohol
- Animals
- Drugs
- Gift cards of any kind
- Fireworks
- Firearms
- Gifts for recognition of University staff members
- Group purchases (ex. Radio for community bathroom)
- Pools
- Trampolines
- Anything that would violate a university policy, state or federal law

Submitting a Receipt

1. Write your name, event title, and event date on the receipt.
2. Print out your approved event proposal.
3. Attach your attendance list from the event.
4. Paperclip the receipt, the attendance list, and the proposal together.
5. Give the packet to your Assistant Director or Area Coordinator.

Advertising

To effectively advertise for your programs, be sure to work in advance and use different techniques each time so that it catches your residents' attention. All advertising drafts/ideas should be submitted to your supervisor at least 2 weeks prior to your event. Once your advertising is approved, it should go out to residents and on your hall 1 week prior to your event. A reminder email or GroupMe message the day of is also a good idea!

Ways to Advertise

- Fliers on the floor and in bathroom stalls
- Personal invitations
- Crayon reminders on the mirrors in the bathroom
- Information on bulletin boards
- Door hangers
- Emails and Groupme messages
- Knocking door to door
- Social media posts and event invitations

- Reminding residents during your intentional conversations
- Giveaways (ex: baking cookies and putting each in a bag, with a 1/4 sheet of info about your program attached. Then knock on doors and pass them out to residents)

Tips for Successful Advertisements

- Make it colorful! – The resource room has lots of colored paper you can use (using colored paper and black ink is preferred over colored printing)
- Avoid standard size sheets of paper - make fliers into squares or do half sheets instead. This will grab their attention more than a regular sheet of paper
- When sending emails, include the image in the body of the email, not as an attachment
- Make sure the main information is easy to read and grabs their attention

Event Introduction

One of the most awkward things is when you arrive to an event and you don't know what's going on. The people running it don't welcome you, explain what's going on, or make any announcements to get things started. This is when people leave without participating. We welcome people to our events!

Things to Say:

- Thank everyone for coming
- Who you are (Identify present staff if necessary)
- Who you represent
- Make announcements (Future events, due dates, etc.)
- Explain how the program will work
- Start the festivities

Resource Room

Though each area office may have some supplies, there are additional supplies in the Judson Resource Room that can be used for bulletin boards, door tags, and programming. Additionally, Housing and Residence Life owns items such as lawn games, DVDs, board games, and other programming supplies. Talk to your supervisor about what is available and in which office those items are located.

Resource Room Guidelines

Permission

- Only H&RL staff are permitted to be in the resource room. No other students should be in the room unless they are meeting with the CMC Area Coordinator.
- Materials are to be used only by H&RL staff. No materials should be used for non H&RL purposes or by other students.
- The door to the resource room should only be left open if the Area Coordinator is in their office. At all other times, the door should remain closed.
- The Resource Room may be used between the hours of 8:00am to 11:00pm. Please remember that there are resident rooms next to the Resource Room so quiet hours need to be respected when using this space. If noise becomes an issue, evening access will be taken away.

Professionalism

- Please make sure that you continue to represent the department well when using this space. Similar desk guidelines apply to this space, such as the use of appropriate language and no discussion of judicial incidents, personnel, or student interactions.
- Please remember that the resource room is also the “lobby” for the Area Coordinator’s office. Be sure to keep your volume to a respectable level and remain professional. If a student comes by to meet with the Area Coordinator, please make sure that they feel welcomed. Say hello, ask them if you can help with anything, and ensure that there is a place for them to sit down.
- The room may be used as a lounge and study space for all SSMs, as long as it remains clean and staff continue to remain professional, even after business hours.

Organization

- Each SSM is responsible for maintaining the organization and tidiness of the resource room. Failure to use the resource room properly may result in a loss of access to the space.
- Please put items back in their original location and make sure it looks neat.
- Once you are done working in the Resource Room, please throw away small scraps, sweep the floor, and wipe down the tables to make sure that there are no little pieces of paper, glitter, glue, etc. Please make sure that you take your personal belongings with you when you leave.
- The trash can is for paper and resource room trash only! No food or personal trash!
- Resource Room materials are to be used only in the resource room and should not be taken anywhere else, with the exception of larger items, such as speakers and games. To reserve and checkout materials, please submit a request on SyncDin at least 5 business days in advance. If approved, you will be able to check out the materials from the Clark Murphy RA Office. Materials must be returned within 24 hours.
- The refrigerator should only be used for food related to programs. Items left in the refrigerator will be thrown out after one week. Please label your items with your name and the date, do not take food that does not belong to you, and keep the refrigerator clean. If something spills, you are responsible for cleaning it up.

Be Green

- Check the scrap box of paper first to see if there are small pieces you can use instead of cutting a new sheet.
- Reuse materials as much as possible and use only what you need.
- Measure paper before you cut it so that you can avoid being wasteful.

Supplies Needed

- If there are supplies that you need, please email the CMC Area Coordinator so that they can work on getting it ordered. If something runs out and you do not add it to the list, it will not be available for you or other staff members to use! Please be as detailed as possible (color, size, etc.) so that the correct materials are purchased.

Conflict Resolution & Mediation

Causes of Conflict

- Conflicts will occur because residents may have incompatible or opposing needs, wishes, demands, ways of living, expectations, etc. Sometimes residents will work these conflicts out on their own, but sometimes you will need to facilitate a mediation.
- You will often be alerted to conflicts through your own observation or your interactions with the residents. Don't avoid the conflict. Conflicts are likely to just get worse, not disappear.
- Oftentimes there can be more to a conflict than who is taking out the trash or having guests over. Be prepared to deal with more personal issues such as hurt feelings, friend break-ups, and other larger issues.

The First Step

The first step is always suggesting that the conflicted parties communicate and try to resolve the issues on their own. Many times, the other residents do not even know there is an issue.

What is mediation?

Mediation is an attempt to settle a dispute between two or more people. The process involves an equal sharing of issues by all parties and discussion to determine acceptable solutions and compromises for everyone involved. The goal of mediation is to resolve issues without formal meetings with professional staff.

Mediation Process

Successful mediation requires all parties involved to agree to mediate the conflict. However, they do not always have option on whether to participate due to the lack of alternative solutions such as room moves due to high occupancy. Mediation differs depending on whether the situation is between roommates or neighbors. The following process includes the nuances of both.

BEFORE THE MEDIATION

You should inform your supervisor of the conflict through a weekly report or email. If you have a FRAD or RA partner, you also need to talk them about this conflict. They need to be aware of the issue and can work with you to mediate the conflict. As you start working to set up the mediation, make sure that you have enough time. A proper mediation usually takes about 60-90 minutes.

Make sure both parties are motivated to resolve the issue. Can they agree on a time and place? Will they actually show up? Or would one rather just agree to the other's terms in order to avoid a conflict? Find a neutral space to conduct the mediation where everyone will feel empowered.

Make sure you have a new Roommate Agreement form with you or the one the room has already completed. It will help you guide the discussion and you might need to renegotiate the terms.

Mediation Tip #1 Active listening is essential to mediation. This involves focusing on the person communicating, being aware of non-verbal cues, encouraging sharing without judgment, and actively respond with questions and summarization.

THE MEDIATION PROCESS

It is a student staff member's role to facilitate a mediation conversation when there is conflict between roommates or apartment-mates. You are an impartial third party there to guide the mediation. It is important to never take sides with residents because it impedes your ability to assist and support all students in your community. Even if you agree with them that something is awful or unreasonable, don't say it! Facilitating a mediation requires patience and confidence. You are in control of the conversation. It's your job to make sure all residents have a chance to participate and that the conversation stays productive on track to a compromise and solution.

1. The first step is talking with all of the residents involved individually. This is important because often each person has very different perspectives of the situation. You do not want to go into a mediation without an idea of what's going on. Residents are also likely to share more and be honest 1 on 1 with you. This is also the time to help the resident deal with the anger and frustration so their emotions are not as high in the mediation.
2. Explain that the purpose of mediation is to hear both sides of the conflict and work together to craft a solution that is amenable to all involved.
3. Agree on the rules of the mediation (if the parties are meeting together). Participants can add further rules with the approval of the student staff member. As the facilitator, if either participant violates the rules it is your responsibility to intervene and remind them of the rules. You are allowed to interrupt! Failure to step in when this happens is what often leads mediations into chaos.
 - No interrupting
 - Take turns speaking and sharing points of view
 - Use "I Statements"
 - Work toward a solution
 - Attack the problem not the person
 - Take responsibility for your actions
 - NO making excuses, name calling, or vulgar language
 - Be honest and tactful

4. Use the DESR Method to guide the conversation:

D	Describe	Have residents identify what they perceive to be the negative/problematic behaviors. Encourage residents to be specific about the behaviors and not guess at the motives behind the actions. Encourage they stick to specifics instead of generalizations or blanket remarks. "Last week when you did this..." vs "You're always so annoying."
E	Express	Have the residents explain how the behavior makes them feel and how they feel about the behavior. This should be done calmly using "I" statements.
S	Specify	Ask each party for specific actions they would like to see the other party take to fix the issue. Identify a small manageable change to fix the situation. These can be specific actions that are stopped or started/increased. You can help them or say if something is unreasonable. You should have the parties decide on mutually beneficial solutions and commit to them. No one should lose completely. It should be a compromise on both sides. Make sure the solutions are specific and determine steps to reach the solutions. Decide the time-frame to make these changes. Review and revise the roommate agreement or write a Neighbor Agreement for a neighbor dispute.
R	Repercussions	Have the residents decide on what happens for failing to stick to the agreement or a reward for achieving the solution and abiding by it. Make sure it is explicitly stated. Have the parties decide on mutually beneficial solutions and commit to them. • Do not suggest solutions right away. Only prompt the parties to think of solutions. • No one should lose completely. It should be a compromise. • Make sure the solutions are specific and determine steps to reach the solutions. • Decide the timeframe to make these changes. • Review and revise the roommate agreement or write a Neighbor Agreement for a neighbor dispute.

Helpful Questions to Guide a Mediation

- What do you think will happen if you don't try to solve this issue?
- Is there anything else that you would like to add?
- Is there anything you want the other person to know?
- How did hearing that make you feel?
- How do you feel hearing that what you said makes the other person feel that way?
- What would you like to see happen now?
- What do you think you can do to solve this issue?
- What could you do next time to avoid this issue?

AFTER THE MEDIATION

The mediation does not end after the meeting. All parties involved must make their best efforts to follow the compromises and solutions agreed upon in the mediation. It is very important for our staff to check-in with everyone involved to see if the situation is improving.

Be sure to follow up with the residents to make sure each resident is holding up their end of the agreement and update your supervisor and your RA/FRAD partner about the situation. If mediation does not work, the AD or AC can meet with the students to determine next steps.

Area Offices

The Area Office is an official extension of the Housing and Residence Life Office. The RA is there to answer questions, assist with lockouts, and rent equipment, just to name a few of their responsibilities.

The most important thing for you to realize is that the Area Office is the official “front door” to each residential area as residents, parents, and campus visitors may walk into the office at any time requiring your assistance. Therefore, it is vitally important that the Area Office is staffed during the posted office hours and that you are prepared and ready to respond to any questions or concerns you receive while on duty. Here are some basic expectations you should always follow when working in the Area Office.

Your Time at the Desk

When you are at your desk shift, you are at work. This means that work comes first. There will be times when your shift will be full of phone calls and projects. There will also be slower times. It is important that at these slow times you use your time wisely and work ahead on your RA tasks—for example weekly reports, community event planning, or reaching out to current or incoming residents.

Always be flexible and willing to do what is asked of you. Remember that you are expected to be available to assist students, parents, visitors, and the Housing and Residence Life professional staff at a moment's notice. You should always be available and accessible while working in the office and you should be able to respond promptly to any phone calls you receive.

“At the Desk”

Even if you are not working your shift, if you are in the office you are “working” and expected to maintain professionalism and help residents if the RA working the shift is engaged with another customer.

Expectations

Business operations and customer service are the top priorities for every RA at the desk. Actions and behaviors that take away from doing good work and providing excellent customer service are not permitted.

Do not leave the desk unattended unless asked to do so or if in danger. If you need to leave the desk for a short amount of time, you should ask another staff member to watch the desk in your absence. If you are alone in the office and must leave the desk for a brief amount of time, such as to assist a resident with a lockout, lock all the doors that lead inside to the office and leave a notice on the front door when you will return. You must take the duty phone with you if you need to leave.

Eating at the Desk

Eating at the desk is acceptable. However, the desk must be kept clean and free from food residue. All food containers, utensils, etc. must be disposed of in receptacles not found behind the desk. No dishes are to be left at the desk. They should be disposed or cleaned.

Attitude

Always be courteous and helpful to students, guests, visitors, and University staff. Give everyone at the desk complete attention.

- Stop any personal activity.
- Greet and acknowledge everyone, and ask how they may be assisted.
- Regardless of others' behavior, remain calm and polite.
- If threatened, made uncomfortable, or unable to handle a situation, call a supervisor or Furman Police for assistance.
- Use appropriate language at the desk and public areas of the University. This includes media and social media.
- Media must be at a low volume level and paused when a customer comes in.
- No discussion of judicial incidents, personnel, or student interactions should be discussed while at the desk.

Alcohol and Tobacco Use

Smoking in the facilities is not allowed. Tobacco use, of any kind, is not permitted at the desk, during training, or during Housing & Residence Life functions. Individuals must comply with all regulations and laws regarding alcohol and controlled substances.

- No drinking alcohol at the desk.
- Discussions regarding alcohol use at the desk are not allowed.
- Arriving to work while intoxicated or impaired is not permitted.
- Do not allow anyone around the desk to engage in these behaviors.

Confidentiality and Honesty

All information behind the desk is considered confidential. This includes, but is not limited to: student, staff, and guest information; desk operations; and personal contact information for any department staff. Knowingly providing inaccurate information to your supervisor is grounds for termination.

Professionalism

At the desk, you are a representative of Housing & Residence Life. Therefore, it is imperative that we are professional at our desk. In order to help us maintain our professionalism, there are some rules for the desk:

1	Arrive 5-10 minutes before your shift begins. Arriving early allows you the opportunity to learn important updates from the RA who was working the shift before you and make sure you are fully informed.
2	Follow the office dress code: - Furman shirts, sweatshirts, and other non-offensive tops with nice slacks or jeans, walking shorts, skirts and dresses are acceptable. - Jeans must not have holes or be frayed at the cuffs. - No hats, pajamas, sleepwear, or exercise clothes. - Undergarments should not be seen. - No midriffs should be exposed.
3	Homework should only be done after work duties are done.
4	Conversations at the desk should be something you would not mind your grandma hearing. In addition, no one should feel they are interrupting a private conversation between people at the desk.
5	Remember that you are ultimately responsible for the conduct of any friends or significant others who visit you in the office. Do not allow friends, family members, or other staff members to loiter at the desk. Individuals who do not work in the office are not permitted behind the desk. For reasons of safety and security, it is not appropriate to leave someone alone in the Area Office who is not a member of hall staff. If you have to leave the office, please make sure to ask anyone who is in the office with you to wait outside of the office until your return.

Technology Use

Desk computers are to be used primarily for work-related tasks. Cell phone use is permitted for work-related functions. Texting is permitted as long as it does not interfere with performance.

The following items and behaviors are not permitted:

- Playing video games.
- Headphones.
- Talking on your cell phone for long periods.
- Watching TV or movies or working on schoolwork while there are projects to complete.
- Watching online TV or movies from disreputable sites.
- Downloading software to desk computers.

Cleanliness

You should work with your fellow RAs to keep the office clean and presentable. Make sure to take out the trash if you are the last person working in the office for the day.

The air flow in the Area Offices is not good, so if trash (especially food related trash such as pizza or takeout boxes of food) is left behind in the office, it will attract bugs and the smell may not be so pleasant when the office is opened the next morning.

RAs should also work to ensure that the micro-fridge in each office remains clean. Remember that the custodial staff does not clean the Area Offices, so it is your responsibility to assist with this task.

Area Office Hours

Area	Phone	Location	Hours
Clark Murphy	864.294.2069	Judson	Monday to Friday: 8:30am-5:00pm
North Village	864.294.2092	North Village J	Monday to Friday: 8:30am-5:00pm
South Housing	864.294.2964	Poteat	Monday to Friday: 8:30am-5:00pm

You will sign up for the office hours you work at the beginning of each semester. It is very important to always follow the following procedures at the beginning of your shift:

1. Clock-in for your shift on Homebase.
2. Read any specific notes that appear when you clock-in.
3. Check to see what tasks need to be completed and begin working on them.
4. Remember to clock out of your shift when it ends.

Area Office Duty Changes

Student staff should be available at all times to assist anyone who contacts or comes into the offices. As a result, it is vitally important that the Area Office remains open and staffed during all posted office hours and that someone is working in the office during those hours. If you are unable to make it to your shift or need to switch office hours, it is your responsibility to find a replacement. If the change is not recorded, you will be held responsible for the shift in the event that no one shows.

Area Office No Shows

If you are working an Area Office shift and no one shows to take the next shift, please check the schedule and see which RA is signed up to work. Call the RA to see where they are and remind them of their shift.

If you cannot reach them and must leave, please call or text other RAs to see who else is available to cover the office. If you can stay until someone else arrives, please do so.

In the event you cannot find anyone to come to the office and you cannot stay, please contact your AAC or supervisor to seek guidance on what to do. If, for some reason, you cannot reach your AAC or supervisor, please contact the Housing and Residence Life Office (weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. only).

Please remember that missing a shift, repeated tardiness, and early departure are all violations of the Job Performance Policy.

Policy Violations

While you are on duty in the Area Office, you may be informed of a policy violation and/or have to assist fellow staff members in addressing a policy violation. Please follow up as soon as you are notified and document the situation in an incident report immediately. In addition, you should always assist your fellow student staff member anytime they request backup for confronting a policy violation.

Facilities Reservations

If anyone wants to reserve any space within campus housing (i.e. Lake Level, North Village Community Center or pavilion), please have them contact the Housing and Residence Life office at 864-294-2092.

Hose Faucet Key

If anyone wants to check-out the hose faucet key, they need to go to the North Village J100 main office.

Area Office Phone Protocol

You may receive some phone calls while working the Area Office. Because you never know who may be calling, it is extremely important you first identify the office and your name. When you answer the phone, always be polite and say,

“Good morning. South Housing Area Office; this is Sam. How may I help you?”

You may get calls regarding phone numbers, so please give whoever calls the number they are requesting. You can also transfer them using the main desk phone.

Remember, for reasons of confidentiality and privacy, it is very important not to provide a specific room number or any personal information for residents.

Because their numbers are intended only for emergency use, you should never provide the cell phone numbers for fellow student staff members or the Housing and Residence Life professional staff.

Deliveries and Rentals Protocols

Deliveries

A delivery includes anything that someone drops off at the Area Office for someone else to pick up (i.e. flowers, notes, clothing, balloons, books, food baskets). To ensure that all deliveries are received by the residents for whom they are intended, it is very important that the RA on duty maintains the log for any deliveries.

1. If an item is delivered while you are working in the Area Office, you need to first confirm that the item(s) being delivered have been brought to the correct Area Office. If they have come to the wrong RA Office, please direct them to the correct office for the area where the resident lives.
2. Once you have ensured that the delivery has been brought to the right office, you should ensure that all deliveries are logged into the deliveries section of the Area Office binder. Always make sure to record the name of the person who delivers the item in the event it is not picked up.
3. As soon as you have logged the delivery, please call and e-mail the resident to let them know they have a delivery. Make sure to BCC your AAC and supervisor on the email.
4. When the items are picked up, you need to verify the resident's identity by having them show you their photo ID, have the resident sign that they picked up the delivery, and write down your name as well to confirm that you were present when the resident picked up the item.

Rentals

There is equipment available for checkout in the Area Office. There is a 24-hour allotment on all items except vacuum cleaners, which are to be checked out by the hour. To ensure that all rental items are always available to residents and in good condition, it is very important that RAs maintain accuracy in signing in and out any rental items. In the event an item is not returned or is lost, documentation is required of the person who last used the item.

1. Before you can rent equipment to a resident, you first need to obtain either their student ID or driver's license.
2. Make sure to complete the information on the rental sheet prior to checking out equipment and review the rental guidelines with the resident.
3. If someone returns equipment while you are working in the Area Office, first check the condition of the item to ensure it is clean, not broken, or missing anything, etc.
4. Please return the resident's ID to them as well as record the time on the rental sheet. If there is a problem with any rental equipment or items are not returned in time, please contact your supervisor.

Providing Exceptional Customer Service

Providing exceptional customer service is one of the most important roles while working in the Area Office. You should strive to be excellent at giving directions, answering questions, and representing Furman well!

You may encounter difficult situations when working in the Area Office. These situations are times when you will be under the most pressure to do the right thing. When handling difficult situations, first apologize for the problem or issue, which has occurred. Make sure to be empathetic and listen to the concerns of the person who is upset. If possible, try to find a way to take immediate action regarding the problem.

However, if that is not possible, always let the person know what actions you will take. Try to get the name and contact information for the person so that you pass along their concerns. The most important thing is to then follow through on whatever course of action you have explained to the person and make sure that your supervisor is informed about this interaction.

Communication

Professional communication is essential when working in the Area Office.

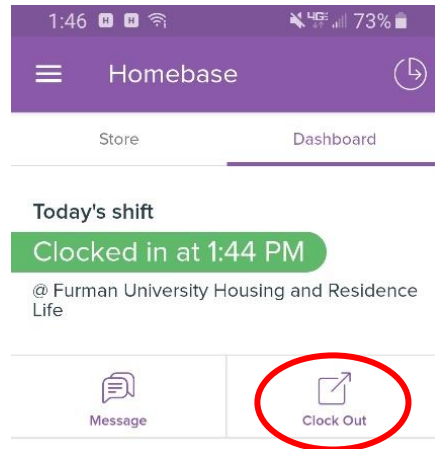

Answering the Phone	Emailing	In Person	With Staff
We answer the phone within two rings. “Good morning. South Housing Area Office; this is Sam. How may I help you?” To place a caller on hold, press the “hold” button. To transfer a call, push the “transfer” button, type in the extension, and push “transfer” again.	Proofread your emails and correct any spelling and grammar errors. Always sign your name when sending an email. Carbon copy your supervisors on mass emails to residents.	Make eye contact and smile. Try to solve issues and answer questions at the front desk before involving supervisors—you probably know the answer.	You are expected to read the desk log notes at the start of each shift. Enter important information for staff in the desk log notes. Explain all ongoing projects to the person working after you.
Your primary job at the desk is answering questions. When someone asks a question: 1. Listen to the question. 2. Repeat it back if necessary to make sure you understand. 3. Think about a response. 4. Use all of your resources to find the answer—look in the manual, THD, online, etc. 5. Answer the question, ask for help, or take a message. It is always easier to pass questions along to the next person, but far more impressive if you can think it through and realize you knew the answer all along.

Master Keys and Room Lockout Protocols

Master Keys

The master keys hang in the Key Tracer lock box on the wall in each Area Office. The master keys should only be used to unlock a door during a lock out, in the event of an emergency, or housing inspections. Only Housing and Residence Life professional staff, Furman Facilities, and designated student staff are permitted to use master keys or have access to the Key Tracer lock boxes.

In the event you notice a master key is missing, please immediately call the Housing and Residence Life office (if it is before 5:00 p.m.) or call the AAC (if it is after 5:00 p.m. or on the weekends).

Room Lockouts

Residents who call upon staff to provide access to their apartment and/or bedroom will be charged $10.00 for each lockout. All lockouts will be tracked in the Lockout Log in syncDIN.

When a resident is locked out:

1. Check their identity using photo ID to determine they live in the apartment or bedroom they want to access.
 - a. Confirm the apartment number and room number with their name through THD.
 - b. If they do not have picture ID, they need to provide their student ID number. Look up the student through the directory and/or THD to confirm their photo.
2. Notify the student that they will be charged $10.00 for the lockout service.
3. Perform the lockout.
4. Enter their information into the Lockout Log form on syncDIN. Fill out all the information.

Remember that any access card entry problems should be referred to University Police at (864) 294-2111 and residents who have lost their ID Card should be referred to the Enrollment Services.

Important:

DO NOT under any circumstances let a student into any room other than the one they are assigned in THD. We cannot put ourselves in a situation where could be liable for jeopardizing someone's safety or security. If you observe suspicious behavior or suspect housing policy violations, do not hesitate to question a resident further. Always follow up with your AAC or supervisor about these situations as well.

Staff Entry into Resident Spaces

Furman University has the right to enter any residential room to address maintenance concerns, conduct routine health and safety checks, and initiate room searches if warranted. Entrance into any residential room/apartment will follow the protocol established by the Office of Housing and Residence Life.

Entrance into student living spaces is categorized into three levels:

I. General Entry

- Non-emergency maintenance repairs: By requesting a maintenance repair, a student has granted permission for facilities staff to come into the room/suite/ and make the necessary repair. In addition, facilities staff may enter student living spaces to verify damages or to perform other maintenance services during normal business hours (M-F, 9:00 am - 5:00 pm).
- Periodic health and safety inspections: Housing staff will conduct routine inspections of all student living spaces. These inspections may be announced in advance of entry to the room/suite/apartment.
- Fire alarm inspections/issues: Rooms, suites, lounges and bathrooms may be entered when an alarm sounds to make sure all students have vacated those areas. Rooms may also be entered when the alarm system indicates a smoke detector has been activated.
- Housekeeping: Housekeeping staff may enter rooms for cleaning, in cases of emergency or cases when a new occupant is moving into a vacated space.
- General Courtesy Issues: Rooms may be entered to turn off alarms and stereos or other items which are causing a disturbance for other members of the community when there has been no response by the occupants.

II. Investigative Entry (Reasonable Cause)

- Violations of Student Conduct Code or Local, State or Federal Laws: If staff members from the Housing and Residence Life have reason to believe a law or university policy is going to be, is in the process of being, or has been broken, a decision to enter the room may be made. Possible violations include but are not limited to: all policies pertaining to alcohol and other drugs, weapons/fireworks, theft, pets, smoking, unregistered person, guests, and noise.

III. Imminent Entry (Critical)

- Life-threatening situation: University Police, Student Life or Housing staff member may use a key to enter a room/suite if it is believed an emergency exists.
- Emergency maintenance repairs: Facilities staff may enter a room at any time to handle concerns that include but are not limited to loss of power, heat, AC, plumbing issues, etc.

Procedure for Room Entry

1. No student room/apartment should be entered without knocking several times and announcing yourself as Housing & Residence Life staff. Entry, following the knock, shall be preceded by a time lapse of sufficient duration to provide occupant(s) with opportunity to open the door. You must announce yourself again after entering.
2. A room/apartment should be entered in the absence of an occupant(s) only for the reasons listed above.
3. RAs should enter rooms/apartments in pairs unless completing a checkout inspection. This is a safeguard for the RA.
4. Should the room/apartment be unlocked upon your arrival, you must lock it when you leave. The privacy of occupant(s) with respect to other students should be maintained when university personnel enter a student's room. Other students should not be permitted to enter the room in the absence of the occupant(s).

Other Notes

- An unlocked door does not immediately indicate, "okay to enter".
- You are not permitted to enter if the reasonable cause is gone. For example, there is a noise complaint and when you arrive you can hear no noise and the residents do not answer at your knock.
- You cannot enter an apartment without invitation in efforts to have an intentional conversation or promote community programming.

Lost Key Policy

Residents will be charged for a re-key if keys are lost. Keys are $50 for residence halls and North Village apartment front doors and $25 for a North Village bedroom key.

If a resident loses a North Village bedroom key:

1. Send an email to your Area Coordinator
 - Include the apartment building letter, apartment number, and bedroom number.
 - Include the student's first and last names and student ID number.
2. Email the resident informing them their student account will be billed for the lost key and the new bedroom key will be brought to the main H&RL office.
3. Mark the appropriate hook(s) in the key cabinet with the "Key Order" tag.

If a resident loses a residence hall room or apartment key:

1. Send an email to your Area Coordinator/Assistant Director.
 - Include the hall/apartment building letter, apartment number/bedroom number.
 - Include the student's first and last names and student ID number.
2. Email the resident informing them their student account will be billed for the lost key and the new key will be brought to the office for them to pick up.
3. Email the other roommates to let them know that their door is being re-keyed and they will need to exchange their keys at the office.
4. Mark the appropriate hooks in the key box with the "Key Order" tag.

Receiving New Keys from the Locksmith

When the locksmith completes a lock change or cuts a new bedroom key, they will bring the keys to the area office. If any of the residents are present while they are completing the lock change, they will give them their new key and have them sign the envelope. They will bring the remainder of the keys to the office.

When keys are brought to the office:

1. Make note of this in the desk binder.
2. See which residents have not received their keys based on the names on the envelope.
Residents of the room/apartment not listed have not received their new key.
3. Email these residents notifying them to come exchange their keys.
4. Mark the email has been sent in the log.
5. Remove the "Key Order" tags and hang the keys on the appropriate hook(s) in the key room.
6. Place any dead keys in the dead key bin.

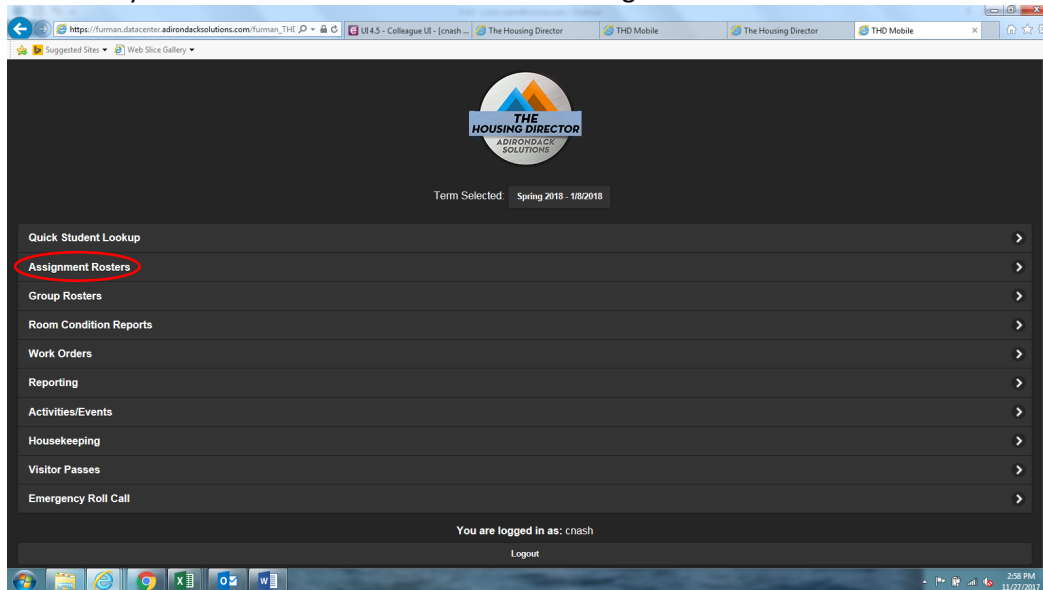

Issuing New Keys to Residents

When residents come to pick up new keys:

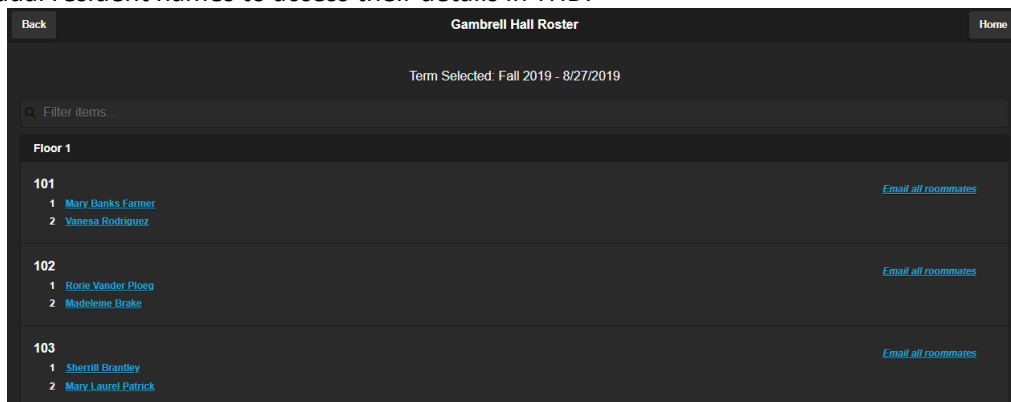

1. Verify their identity and assignment using student ID card and THD.
2. Take their old key(s) and put it in the dead key bin (unless this is the student that lost theirs).
3. Give them their new key(s).

Health and Safety Inspections

Health and Safety inspections involve the RAs checking resident spaces for items that may put the health and safety of residents in the building at risk. These checks are not intended for you to snoop on residents, but rather to make sure that the building remains safe and free of any health and safety hazards.

Going back to Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs, the basic needs include safety and security and having a place to live. These inspections are done so that Housing and Residence Life can work to make sure that all students feel safe and have their basic needs met.

What to Look For

- Policy violations and prohibited items
- Cleanliness issues

Process

- Residents will be notified at least 1 week in advance that Health & Safety Inspections will occur. Inspections may only be conducted between 10am-9pm.
- RAs will enter in pairs. You are not permitted to complete an inspection without an RA partner.
- RAs will only document items in plain sight. We do not open closets, cabinets, or drawers.
- RAs will complete inspection form using cleaning and maintenance standards for guidance. If the issue is observed in a bedroom, be sure to mark which bedroom. Write notes on the form describing the specifics of the issues observed.
- For any prohibited items that are not illegal (i.e. pets, decorations) give them a chance to remove them and check on follow up. For illegal items, call Level One and FUPD (weapons, drugs) and write IR (weapons, drugs, alcohol under 21).
- Leave notice form if they did not pass and explain what needs to be resolved.
- RA will follow up with any apartments that did not pass. Follow ups must also be completed in pairs. Your supervisor will provide a timeline for when you will need to follow up.
- Submit a new form for the follow up inspection.
- If not the issues are not fixed, take a photo of the issues and submit an IR with details.
