Alexander Ricciuti, M.Ed.
Career Advisor at Furman University
July 20, 2021, Alexander managed Victor directly

I worked with Victor while at Furman University. Victor's knack for finding new and innovative ways to connect with members of the Paladin community challenged my office to grow in our approach. While Victor's strategic skill is phenomenal, the best part of working with Victor, it has to be said, is their willingness to take in new information and connect with others. This connection allows Victor to consistently bring in new information and perspectives with confidence. It is an absolute pleasure working with Victor and they would be an excellent addition to any team. See less
